Communion Reflection

Jesus looked at the rich young man with love. Yet even he failed to touch the man's heart. So the young man returned to his old life sad, refusing to share any of his riches with the poor.

Yet how strange that Jesus succeeded in touching the heart of the corrupt tax collector Zacchaeus, and got him to give half of his goods to the poor.

And the night before he died, he turned and looked at Peter who had denied him not once but three times, and what happened? When Peter felt those eyes looking at him, he realised that he had betrayed a friend, and he went outside and wept bitterly.

The look of Christ! His glance falls on us too, on you and on me. It is a glance that comforts and disturbs, heals and probes, blesses and beckons at the same time.

What is he saying to me with that look? One thing for sure: That he loves me.
